|                                 |   |                      | Table 1                                       |  |  |   |  |
|---------------------------------|---|----------------------|---|--|--|---|--|
| Contract Item                   | What  | Who                  | Why   | How  | Gaps   | Solutions   |  |
| ContractualLiability        | Obligations underthe contract           | Bothparties      | To ensureperformance andmitigate risk | Clearly defined terms, conditions,and performance standards;regular review and update              | Ambiguous terms, lackof clear performancemetrics, unrealistictimelines     | Precise language, detailedspecifications, flexible timelines,regular progress reviews                         | TinmaFixaccCoregPecrit |
| Indemnification                 | Protection against third-party claims       | Usually the supplier | To allocate risk and limit liability          | Clearly defined indemnificationclauses, specifying the scope ofcoverage and limitations            | Overly broad or vagueindemnification clauses,lack of insurancerequirements | Narrowly tailored indemnificationclauses, specific insurancerequirements, clear limits on liability           | Co   |
| IntellectualProperty Rights | Ownership and usage of IP                   | Bothparties      | To protectintellectual propertyrights | Clear IP ownership clauses,licensing agreements,confidentiality provisions                         | Lack of IP protection,unauthorized use of IP                                       | Strong IP protection clauses,confidentiality agreements, regular IPaudits                                     | En:pro   |
| Warranties andGuarantees    | Assurances ofquality andperformance | Usually the supplier | To ensure product or service quality          | Detailed warranty and guaranteeclauses, specifying terms,conditions, and remedies                  | Insufficient warranties,lack of clear remedies                                     | Comprehensive warranties, specificperformance standards, clearremedies (e.g., repair, replacement,refund) | Tai  |
| Insurance                       | Financial protection against risks          | Bothparties      | To mitigate financiallosses               | Insurance requirements, specifying coverage amounts and types  | Inadequate insurancecoverage, lack of timelyclaims processing                  | Mandatory insurance requirements,regular insurance policy reviews,efficient claims procedures                 | En:pro   |
| Limitation ofLiability      | Caps on damages                             | Bothparties      | To limit potential financial exposure         | Clear limitation of liability clauses, specifying maximum liability amounts                                | Excessive liability, lack of caps  | Reasonable limits on liability, equitable allocation of risk  | Ba   |
| DisputeResolution           | Mechanisms for resolving disputes           | Bothparties      | To avoid costlylitigation                 | Dispute resolution clauses,specifying preferred methods (e.g.,negotiation, mediation, arbitration) | Lack of efficient dispute resolution mechanisms  | Clear dispute resolution clauses,neutral third-party involvement,expedited procedures                         | Ch   |

Additional Considerations for Different Contract Types

Time and Materials: Clear guidelines for change orders and project management.

Fixed-Price: Specific deliverables and fixed pricing, performance metrics, and acceptance criteria.

Cost-Reimbursement: Detailed cost tracking, strict expense controls, and regular audits.

Performance-Based: Specific performance metrics, incentives, evaluation criteria, and payment mechanisms.

Consider the specific risks associated with the procurement.

Ensure clear ownership and usage rights for all IP involved in the procurement.

Tailor warranties and guarantees to the specific needs of the procurement.

Ensure adequate insurance coverage for all parties involved in the procurement.

alance the need to protect both parties from excessive liability.

Choose a dispute resolution method that is efficient and cost-effective.